1. On 9 August Soviet air force adviser Mo-t'o-fu (莫托夫) left Peiping for Mukden. He flew from Mukden to Tientsin with Ao-la-hsun (奥拉逊), a high-ranking Polish air force technician, and Chia-lo-tz'u-k'o-fu (加洛茨科夫), a Soviet air force officer, on 11 August. On the same day they flew from Tientsin to Hankow. On the morning of 12 August they flew to Kunming and on 14 August to Canton. After one day in Canton, they flew to Sanya airfield, Hainan, for a four-day stay directing the building of defenses on the island.
2. On 12 August a freighter sailed to the Wanshan Islands from Whampoa carrying 60mm guns, shells, rifle grenades, barbed wire, mines, and bullets. The unloading took place at mid-night under heavy guard.
3. Beginning on 10 August the Naval Defense Marine Unit at La Chi Wei (塔子尾), Wanshan Islands, was increased to 140 men from 60 men with LU I (陆毅) as commanding officer. The unit has six armored motor boats, each mounted with a 13mm gun, and two medium-size high-speed landing vessels equipped with radio sets.
4. On 14 August five Soviet-made 12-inch guns arrived at Yulin, Hainan, from Whampoa. The guns were installed at key points in the harbor by Soviet naval personnel stationed at Yulin.
5. The area from Hainan to Fukien has been designated as the 2 Aviation Military District. The first-line airfields along the sea coast are to be linked with the rear sector by supply highways. In the Fukien-Kwangtung-Kiangsi area there is an aviation highway which goes from Ch'aoan (116-37, 23-42), through Jaop'ing (116-48, 23-58), Yungting (116-44, 24-43), and Shanghang (116-27, 25-02), to Shangjiao (117-54, 28-26), with 12 refueling stations on the road. Another aviation highway goes from Canton to Hsunwu (115-29, 24-57) by way of P'ingyuan (115-54, 24-51) to link up with Fukien highways. This road has 14 fueling stations. In case of emergency these roads will be closed to civilian traffic and used for shipment of supplies.
